THE ACTOR

EUGENE BRAVE ROCK IS A STANDOUT IN A CROWD. HE EMBODIES A RESOUNDING STAR POWER ENERGY AND SELF-AWARENESS THAT COMMANDS THE SPOTLIGHT. A STORYTELLER DRIVEN BY THE DESIRE TO IMPACT THE WORLD THROUGH FILM AND STORYMAKING.

ABOUT

Eugene Brave Rock is a Niitsitapi (Blackfoot) actor from Southern Alberta.

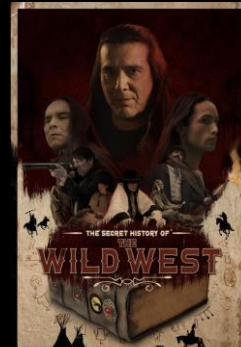

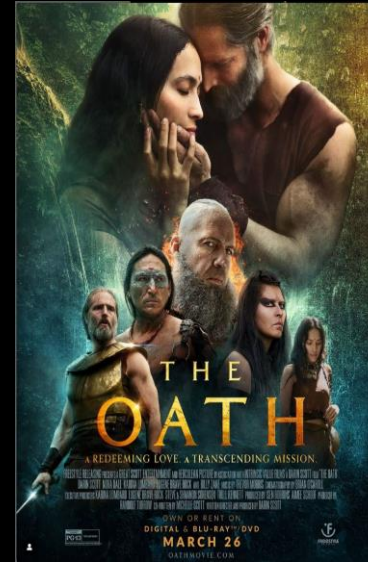

Brave Rock is best known for his hard-hitting roles in AMC's Dark Winds as Frank Nakai and The Stranger in The Dirty Black Bag role. Previously appearing in a standout role in Wonder Woman as "The Chief" in Wonder Woman \(2017\) starring Gal Gadot in the title role. He was born and raised at the foothills of Rocky Mountains of southern Alberta, Canada on the Kainai (Blood) Reserve. A talented actor and stunt person, Stunt Skills acquired as a performer in "Buffalo Bills Wild West Show" at Euro-Disney in Paris France led to other opportunities in film and television including setting up boot camp for Native American Stunt performers featured in the Oscar award winning film "The Revenant".

This time is the second time I'm meeting with Brave Rock, but this time I'm interviewing him for his feature. The cover shoot was more relaxed. The interview is a little nerve-racking. Studying Brave Rock and watching him on Wonder Woman three times seemed to set the bar higher. But his eagerness helps me calm down. "I just took some notes from the questions you sent me," he says before we start the interview. "They were good questions. They made me think." He tells me being featured in a Native American magazine inspires him to be more relatable.

Brave Rock is Blackfoot from the Blood Tribe of Siksikaisskshkoi, or Blackfoot Country. He was raised by his grandmother Florence on the Canadian side on the Blood rez in southern Alberta. "I'd rather

Preserving Elders' Stories and Acknowledging Indigenous Land A Journey Across America

Our goal is to document and preserve the greetings and invaluable stories of elders within indigenous communities across America while paying respectful homage with protocol to the elders and land we traverse. This journey is undertaken with the dual purpose of safeguarding cultural heritage and acknowledging the territories we visit. This journey is a testament to our commitment to preserving the rich tapestry of indigenous cultures, languages, and traditions across America. By recording elders' stories, respecting indigenous protocols, and acknowledging the land, we aim to contribute to the preservation and education of indigenous heritage for generations to come.
